TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

Three Hundred Thirty-Two of County's Teachers

ATTEND ANNUAL MEETING

Excellent Corps of Day Instructors and High-Grade Evening Entertainments—Synopsis.

The fifty-third annual session of the Teachers' Institute convened promptly at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. On calling the roll three hundred and twenty-five teachers responded. Prof. J. W. Yoder of the Central State Normal School, Lock Haven, is the musical director; Miss Josephine Smith, pianist, Prof. S. H. Koontz, violinist, and George Koontz, cornetist. Devotional exercises by Rev. J. W. Lingle opened the session and was followed by the singing of "America" by the institute.

After a few well-chosen words of welcome Supt. Wright introduced Hon. O. T. Corson of Columbus, O., whose initial address was on "What the Teacher Gets from the Institute." That we get out of life what we are looking for was emphasized and illustrated by citing as an example former Deputy State Supt. Hon. Henry Houck, "who was always looking for and always found sunshine." If we are looking for courteous treatment we will always find it, provided we are looking for something reasonable. We will get out of institute just what we are looking for. Teachers should not look upon the institute as a place to obtain technical instruction. It is not a place to get the information to successfully pass an examination; its purpose is to arouse enthusiasm, inspiration and sympathy in the work; its instruction ought not to be theoretical but practical. Much helpful knowledge can be given to the inexperienced teacher by those who have been long in the service. What enthusiasm, sympathy and inspiration we impart to our associates or our pupils just so much more do we get out of life ourselves. "We get out of life exactly what we put into it."

Fasset A. Cotton, State Superintendent of Indiana, spoke on the "Complete Education of the Democracy." He explained that the school must be for all and that the entire individual must be educated. Statistics show that fifty per cent. of the boys and girls that enter school reach the grammar grade, twenty per cent. enter the high schools, five per cent. reach the fourth year in the high school, and one per cent. complete the college or university course; this goes to show that the school is for the mass of people. A good education is essential for the laborer as well as the professional man. It is the duty of the school to train the boy or the girl along the line for which he or she is peculiarly fitted. It is the teacher's duty to find out the special trait, foster and develop it along correct lines; to bring out natural talent, train and develop it. He believed the school of the future would be so organized as to "train all the senses"—taste, smell and touch, as well as the eye and ear. Some special gift may thus be developed. While the speaker advocated the development of the natural talents, he emphasized the fact that all the powers of the individual must be developed. Every boy or girl ought to be made responsible for something early in life. He took occasion to emphasize the valuable training to be received from teaching in a country school.

Monday Evening

The Royal Gypsy Concert Company, comprising eight talented young ladies, a reciter, and musical director, gave to the people of Bedford county a rare treat.

Tuesday Morning

The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. F. W. Biddle. In his subject "Country Life and Country Schools," Supt. Cotton spoke of the advance along industrial lines in our country and showed, especially, the advance in farming and the improvement in farm machinery. In speaking of the homes it was shown that there is equal improvement in the home surroundings on the farm. The speaker believes the school house the poorest building in the community. Here Supt. Cotton made the plea that the schools should be made as attractive as the home. Regarding the course of study, it should be arranged to meet the needs of the community. In arithmetic the speaker claimed that there can be many practical problems supplied that have a vital interest to the pupils; to this end he would have the pupils equipped to take an advanced course in agriculture.

"A Lesson in Geography, Illustrated by Specimens, China," by John J. McFarlane. The speaker told of the work that is being done in connection with the Philadelphia museum, in referring to our progress he called attention to our advance along industrial lines. The lesson of China—In Philadelphia it is the purpose of the museum to have the schools come to them for information. In reference to China he said he would emphasize the age of China, and also the size of the country. In this he would compare the ages and areas of different countries; he would discuss with his pupils the different routes to the country. The Yellow Sea is made yellow by waters from the Yang-Tse Kiang. The imports are greater for China than exports. Then the speaker

DIRECTORS' CONVENTION

Guardians of County's Schools in Annual Meeting.

The fifth annual convention of the school directors of Bedford county which was held in the court house Friday and Saturday, December 13 and 14, was attended by 127 directors, a larger number than assembled at any preceding convention.

The day sessions were presided over by Hon. J. H. Longenecker, president of the convention, who opened the first session with a brief but appropriate address, after the devotional exercises which were conducted by Rev. M. L. Culler. The first speaker introduced was Dr. T. B. Noss, principal of the California State Normal, who forcefully discussed Facts and Fallacies.

Prof. E. M. Rapp, superintendent of the schools of Berks county, was next introduced and spoke on Handicapped and Headedness. His talk was a strong plea for the teaching that is practical and useful.

The lectures Friday evening by Supt. Rapp on Back to the Farm, and on Educational Progress by Dr. Noss were both practical and interesting, and the music furnished by the pupils of the high school was much appreciated.

Rev. H. B. Townsend conducted the devotional exercises at Saturday forenoon's session, after which Supt. Rapp told how directors may increase the efficiency of the schools, and Dr. Noss gave one of his inspiring talks, mostly on the German schools. In addition to the addresses referred to, William Lauder of Riddelsburg told the convention of his observations in the schools of Europe and pointed out many advantages over our American schools. Addresses were also delivered by M. H. Kramer of Hyndman, E. A. Herschberger of Wolfburg and S. A. Van Ormer of Bedford.

The following officers were elected for the next convention: President, S. A. Van Ormer, Bedford; Vice Presidents, S. H. Mickel, New Paris, George W. Gearinger, Coal Dale; Secretary, Dr. L. D. Blackwelder, Bedford; Treasurer, J. S. Stoler, Saxton.

Free Scholarship

Miss Edith Bennett of Flintstone, Md., received a plurality of votes in the contest for a free scholarship in the Tri-State Business College, Cumberland, Md. The institution has for several years offered at the County Institute a free scholarship in either of its several courses to the teacher receiving the largest number of votes. The contestants were Bessie M. Whip, Bedford; Ellis Van Horn, Everett; R. F. D. No. 1; D. I. Pepple, Six Mile Run; Kie Brown, Mann's Choice; Asa S. Stuckey, Fossilville; Mattie Lowery, Hyndman; Dora Means, Piney Creek; Edith Bennett, Flintstone, Md.; J. Warren Imler, Imler; Norman Coughenour, Hyndman; A. Fred Claar, Queen.

Verdict in Wertz Case

The coroner's jury in the case of W. A. Wertz of Hyndman, the engineer who was found lying beside the tracks some distance above Hyndman last Wednesday evening with a revolver beside him and a bullet wound in his head, and who died later at Allegany Hospital, Cumberland, rendered a verdict of accidental death. It was at first thought he had committed suicide, but the testimony before the inquest showed accidental shooting.

Mrs. Sarah A. Geller

Mrs. Sarah Amanda Geller of near here died on Saturday, December 14, aged 61 years, two months and 10 days. Several months ago she contracted typhoid fever and was patient sufferer during her long illness. After a partial recovery from that disease she was taken ill with consumption which resulted in her death. Mrs. Geller was born on October 4, 1846, and was the daughter of Peter and Sarah Hillegas, of Dry Ridge, Juniata township. She was married to George Geller and to this union were born the following sons and daughters: William of West Virginia, Henry of Dry Ridge, Jacob of near New Buena Vista, Lewis, who died several years ago, Lucinda, widow of the Michael Diehl who was burned to death in Cumberland several months ago, and Lizzie, wife of Frank Martz of Hyndman. Two sisters, Mrs. Katherine Sides and Mrs. Maria Turner, and one brother, Henry Hillegas, also survive her.

Mrs. Geller was a kind and affectionate mother, an obliging neighbor, and a true and sincere friend, one who was ever ready to offer the hand of sympathy in time of sorrow and trouble, or again the same hand was extended in a glad and joyous welcome. Where she lived and was best known there she will be the most sadly missed. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at the Reformed church on Dry Ridge, of which she was a member, by Rev. C. W. Warlick. Interment in cemetery at that place.

Mrs. Susanna Imler

Mrs. Susanna Imler died at King on Friday, December 13, of an internal tumor, aged 80 years, 11 months and 16 days. She was born near Weyant on December 27, 1826, and in May 1847 was married to John H. Imler, who died in August, 1905. She leaves the following children: Mrs. Mary Ling of Imler, Mrs. Rita Exline of Akron, O.; Mrs. Hulda Peterson of Grinnel, Kas., and Mrs. I. B. Ficks of King. Mrs. Imler was a member of the Lutheran church on Sunday at King and was conducted by Rev. J. H. Diehl.

Burgess John R. Jordan

John Reamer Jordan died at his home here Wednesday morning, December 18, about 7 o'clock, after an illness of but a few days from pneumonia, aged 34 years and 14 days. He was a son of Samuel and Mae (Shuck) Jordan and is survived by his mother, with whom he lived, two sisters and one brother: Mrs. Dr. L. D. Blackwelder of Bedford, Mrs. Russell Kiser of Pittsburg, and Samuel of Cleveland, O.

Mr. Jordan had a cold but thought of nothing serious and continued at his post as acting cashier of the Hartley Bank until the close of business on Saturday after which he took his bed, pneumonia having developed, where he remained until the end came. He received his education in the public schools of the town, after which he was employed for a time in Lancaster and Washington. When B. F. Mann was appointed postmaster of Bedford in 1891 Mr. Jordan went into the office as assistant. He later went into the Hartley Bank where he remained until his death. For the past two years, during the illness of Cashier Hartley, Mr. Jordan has been acting cashier. He was a charter member of Bedford Springs Council No. 1935, Royal Arcanum.

John R. Jordan was efficient and courteous in business and gentlemanly in his demeanor. He was public spirited and exceptionally popular, and his efforts for the betterment of his town and county always told. In the performance of his duty as Burgess of Bedford, to which position he was elected two years ago, he was cautious but fearless, and as an official as well as a man he was respected. His example in business and in social life was for good; his record is clean; his life was pure, and his influence will long be felt in the community.

The funeral service will be held at his late home on Juliana street at 1:30 p. m., Saturday, conducted by Rev. F. W. Biddle. Interment in the Bedford cemetery.

Mrs. Walter F. Moore

After a lingering illness from tuberculosis, Mrs. Minnie Jordan, wife of Insurance Agent W. F. Moore, passed to her eternal home at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening, December 11, at the age of 55 years, three months and 25 days. She was a daughter of Colonel Francis Jordan, late of Harrisburg, and Louisa Farquhar Jordan, and was born in Bedford on August 16, 1852. On April 29, 1879, she was married to Walter F. Moore who with one daughter, Miss Ruth, survives. Two sons preceded her in death, Francis in October, 1899, and Thomas J. on November 24, 1906.

Mrs. Moore was possessed of a sunny disposition, by which she made many friends who will regret to learn of her death. The bereaved husband and daughter have the sympathy of the community in their great loss. The funeral took place at the late home near Chalybeateville on Friday afternoon, the services being conducted by Rev. H. B. Townsend of the Presbyterian church. Interment in the Bedford cemetery.

William H. Ling

William H. Ling of Pleasantville, whose sudden death, as mentioned in our last issue, occurred on December 11, was born June 21, 1841, in West St. Clair. In March 1865 he was married to Miss Elizabeth Hammer, who died in 1901. Three children survive: Dorsey S., George H., and Mrs. May B. Peterson, all of Windber. He also leaves one sister, who resides in Michigan.

When the war broke out Mr. Ling enlisted in Co. D, 138th Regiment Penna. Volunteers and was in the battles of The Wilderness, Cold Harbor and Spotsylvania. He was taken prisoner on July 7, 1864, and was confined in Libby prison for seven months and 18 days. Deceased was a charter member of K. G. E. Castle No. 310, of Alum Bank and of G. A. R. Post No. 333. He was converted and joined the United Evangelical church in Spruce Hollow over 40 years ago, and was a faithful and consistent member. Rev. Albert A. Hilleary conducted the funeral services, which were held at Alum Bank on Friday, December 13.

Resolutions

At a special session of council held Thursday forenoon the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased God in His infinite wisdom to remove by the hand of death our Chief Executive Officer, Chief Burgess John R. Jordan, and

Whereas, His usefulness both as an official and a citizen has been recognized and felt by the general business public as well as by our Assembly, therefore be it

Resolved by the Town Council of the Borough of Bedford, in special session assembled, this 18th day of December, 1907, That in the untimely death of Chief Burgess John R. Jordan, this Borough has lost a most faithful and efficient Chief Executive, one whose every official act was marked by sound wisdom, justice and prudence and one for whose presence and counsel in our deliberations, as well as for whose personal friendship, we have had the highest regard.

Resolved further, That in the death of Mr. Jordan the business institution with which he was connected has lost a most efficient and trustworthy employee and its patrons a courteous and obliging patron.

Resolved further, That in this sore affliction we extend to the members of the bereaved family our sincerest sympathy at the loss of a dutiful son and an affectionate brother.

Resolved further, That out of respect to the memory of Mr. Jordan as our Chief Executive and as a most valued citizen of our Borough, we ask that all places of business be closed during the hour of his funeral on Saturday, the 21st instant, and that these resolutions be spread at length upon the minutes of Council and that they be published in the Bedford Borough newspapers.

Mrs. Maria E. Sill

Mrs. Maria Ernest, widow of Henry Sill, died on Tuesday, December 17, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. H. Todd, near Wolfburg, of stomach trouble, aged 76 years, three months and 24 days. She was born in Bedford township on August 23, 1831, and was a daughter of Samuel Ernest. In March 1852 she married Henry Sill, who died some years ago. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. John Phillips of Cessna and Mrs. F. H. Todd of Wolfburg; also a grandson, Charles H. Phillips of Bedford and a great-grandchild, Dorothy Phillips. Funeral services were held at Messiah Lutheran church Thursday morning, conducted by Rev. J. H. Diehl, assisted by Revs. Bausman and Keboch.

Mother Sill, as she was generally known, was a very kind hearted and generous old lady, always greeting you with a smile. The writer received a great deal of help from her along that line. But there is something more precious and of greater comfort than kindness and a pleasant disposition, it is the fact that she was a faithful Christian woman. The Hand of God touched her and in response her spirit left her body to join the company in heaven who were awaiting her coming. How blessed the thought! How great the consolation and comfort to lay to rest the remains of such a precious mother! Another life's record is closed. How sudden the call! Yet the influence of her life will remain with us, together with her good advice and example. Her many friends extend deep and loving sympathy to the bereaved family. A Friend.

John Love

John Love, colored, died at Altoona on December 18, aged 96 years. He was born in Virginia and was freed from slavery before the war broke out. He lived in this county from then until about 26 years ago. He was a member of Co. H, 41st Colored Infantry and served for over a year. He is survived by his wife, Sarah, who resides in this county; two sons and one daughter, of Altoona; three step-children, Charles Key and Mrs. Davis, of Bedford, and Mrs. Sanders of Altoona. A sister, Mrs. Chaney Tillman, who is said to be 100 years old, also survives, as does one brother, Robert, of Woodbury. Interment at Altoona.

AMERICA'S MOST MEMORABLE

CHRISTMAS

WASHINGTON CROSSING THE DELAWARE
Christmas Night 1776

THE METROPOLITAN MUSEUM OF ART

America's Most Memorable
Christmas.

By ROBERTUS LOVE.

[Copyright, 1907, by Robertus Love.]
THE most memorable Christmas in American history was that of 1776, the day on which Washington crossed the Delaware. As a matter of fact, Washington and his army crossed the Delaware four times during that same month, but it was the crossing on Christmas night that made vivid history. The picture of "Washington Crossing the Delaware," framed as a colored chromo or a black and white print, has been familiar to two generations of Americans. But how many of us know just why, how and where Washington crossed the Delaware, what bearing that movement had upon the destiny of America, who painted the famous picture from which the familiar chromos are made and where the original oil painting may be seen today?

Driven from Long Island and New York across "the Jerseys," Washington's defeated and discouraged army was pursued closely by the British under Cornwallis. Washington reached Trenton Dec. 2 and began preparations for crossing over into Pennsylvania. Collecting all the boats he could find he sent his army across the river on the night of the 7th, following with the rear guard the next morning, just as Cornwallis, as the historian Lossing puts it, "came down, with great pomp and parade, to the opposite shore."

Cornwallis expected to find boats and cross the river, capture Philadelphia, the capital of the struggling colonies and end the rebellion in short order. But the wily Washington had destroyed all the boats which he could not hide on the Pennsylvania shore for his own future use. The British general therefore decided to wait until the river froze, so that he could cross on the ice. Mild weather prevailed for a fortnight. In the meantime Washington had placed strong guards at several fords and ferries up and down the river, the enemy also posting detachments at important points on the New Jersey side. Washington, with a portion of his army, was encamped at Newtown, a little northeast of Bristol, Pa. The British garrison at Trenton consisted of about 1,500 Hessians and some British light horse under command of Colonel Rall, a gallant Hessian officer.

The capture of Philadelphia seemed so imminent that by advice of General Putnam, in command there, the Continental Congress retired to Lancaster. The situation was highly critical. The time of service for which most of Washington's men had enlisted would expire within ten days, and unless money could be had for their payment few of them would remain in the field. Many citizens who had espoused the patriot cause became discouraged and went over to the enemy. Cornwallis was so popular that the "rebels" were on their last legs and the war practically over that he went to New York with the intention to sail for England on leave of absence.

Washington felt that some decisive blow must be struck. The British must be shown that the Americans still had fight in them. Timid citizens in their homes must be encouraged by a demonstration of patriotic valor and military prowess. Accordingly Washington planned attacks at several points along the river, but he could not induce some of his subordinate commanders to co-operate with him. They could not cross the river, they said. But Washington could and did. He proposed to go over and give the Hessians at Trenton a Christmas aftermath in the way of a daylight surprise the morning after Christmas, knowing that the jolly Germans would be more or less demoralized by their bibulous manner of celebrating the anniversary. Washington's troops at Newtown were chiefly New Englanders. He had about 2,400 men and twenty pieces of artillery. The weather had turned much colder toward Christmas, and on the afternoon of that day a chill storm of snow and sleet began, lasting through the night. Washington's troops marched to McConkey's ferry in the snowstorm. McConkey's was a riverside inn on the New Jersey bank of the Delaware about nine miles above Trenton. The boats previously hidden by the Americans were collected at this point, opposite McConkey's house, and at dusk the soldiers began crossing. Everybody knows, of course, that "the river was full of floating ice," but Colonel Glover and his fishermen soldiers from Marblehead did not mind that. They knew how to guide boats amid cakes of ice. These Massachusetts fishermen were placed in charge of the boats.

The plan of Washington was to reach Trenton by 5 o'clock in the morning and catch the Hessians sleeping off their Christmas potations. He counted upon getting the whole army across by midnight. Owing to the delay caused by the ice and the storm it was 3 o'clock in the morning when the last boat load of patriots reached the Jersey shore. By 4 o'clock the force was formed ready for the march upon Trenton. Colonel Henry Knox had brought over his cannon on the flatboats, with horses to pull the pieces along the road.

General Washington crossed the river a little before midnight. The inmates of McConkey's house were asti-practically all night, brewing big jorums of hot and steaming punch, which the cold and weary Continental officers drank with eager zest. It is related that early in the morning hours Washington himself stepped into the inn and found some of his young officers inclined to loiter by the fire and indulge in extra potations. There was more serious work on hand. Washington, it is said, drank just one stout "snifter" and ordered his officers to be about their business. McConkey's house still stands, and the place is known now as Washington's Crossing.

Washington divided his forces into two bodies, one to march down the river road and attack the enemy from the west, the other to enter the town from the north. The commander instructed all his officers to set their watches by his, so that the attack might be made simultaneously at every point. It was 8 o'clock when the enemy's outposts were encountered and driven in, firing from behind trees and fences as they ran.

Colonel Rall had been up all night, with other officers, carousing and playing cards at the house of a Tory. Though the attack was made three hours later than had been intended, it was still practically a surprise. Rall buckled on his sword and gallantly tried to rally his demoralized forces, but it was too late. Already the light horse and 500 Hessians had taken flight and escaped. Knox had planted his cannon to sweep the principal streets, and the attack from all points was furious. Colonel Rall fell mortally wounded, and a little later he surrendered his sword to Washington. The American commander took nearly a thousand prisoners, with many stands of arms, cannon and other equipment. The victory was complete. Cornwallis deferred his trip to England, remaining here to surrender to Washington at Yorktown five years later.

The next day Washington's army recrossed the river, taking the Hessian prisoners to Newtown. On the 29th, his forces having been increased by the arrival of other troops, he made the passage of the Delaware for the fourth time in a month, recrossing Trenton until forced to retire to Princeton by the maneuvers of Cornwallis. In crossing and recrossing the river and fighting the battle of Trenton Washington lost only seven men. Two were killed, four were wounded and one frozen to death.

The famous picture "Washington Crossing the Delaware" was painted in 1851 by Emanuel Leutze, who was born in Wurttemberg in 1816 and died at Washington in 1868, having settled permanently in America. Leutze painted several other American historical scenes. The Washington picture, an immense canvas to which no printed reproduction can do justice, now hangs in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York city, where it may be seen free of charge by any American patriot—or by any Hessian or British visitor, for that matter. The great painting was presented to the museum ten years ago by John S. Kennedy. It is a matter of congratulation that this artistic representation of an inspiring incident connected with America's most historic Christmas now belongs practically to the people of America, one and all.

Christmas
With Lo, the Poor Indian.

MANY of the Indians who still keep up their tribal existence are Christians. To them as to the white people Christmas is an important anniversary, but they celebrate it in their own way. This way would not be approved by certain Christian denominations of white people because it includes as the chief feature a dance.

The southwestern Indian tribes have a special fondness for all sorts of ceremonial dances. When white people dance they do it for the aesthetic pleasure of the performance, the poetry of motion, so to speak. Not so with the Indians. Every dance has a deep significance to them. When they assemble for their Christmas observance they begin by praying for rain and bountiful crops.

Then follows the dance. This is the only dance in which the women are permitted to take part. The men and women form in opposite lines and start up a song, their bodies swaying in rhythm. Then they break up into groups and dance toward each other with a hippity-hop step, holding their bodies rigid.

The next movement is to form a circle and dance around a Christmas tree the first year or two at any rate. The baby is strapped to a board, its body wrapped in warm skins and only its head sticking out, so that it can cry without being cramped for space.

Frequently the papoose takes its naps in an upright position, its mother leaning the baby board against the tepee pole.

On Christmas eve Santa Claus steals into the tepee and lays beside the sleeping papoose its Christmas presents. These are not so numerous or so costly as the white baby's presents, but to the little bronze baby they are just as good. Nearly always the Indian baby gets things of bright colors. Indians, big and little, are particularly fond of garish hues. A red necktie, a blue ribbon, a yellow scarf or a stick of striped candy may be the selection of Santa Claus, but a string of shells or beads, the tooth of an elk or the claw of a bear is more likely to be the papoose's present.

Sloux Mother and Child

When papoose wakes up and finds its gifts it is just as happy as the richest white child in the land.

Christmas on Christmas Island. They never have any "white" Christmas on Christmas Island. The thermometer never falls below 70 and never rises above 90 in the shade.

Christmas Island lies about 250 miles southeast of the western extremity of Java. It is in the Indian ocean and belongs to Great Britain, having been annexed in 1888. This interesting little bit of land in midsea appears to have been originally a coral reef, which by volcanic forces has been raised so high that at its highest point it sticks out of the water 1,600 feet. In shape it is an irregular quadrilateral. It has an area of about twenty square miles. The British have formed a settlement on the island for the development of the phosphate beds, which are said to be rich. This material is used for fertilizer.

A globe trotter who spent last Christmas very appropriately on Christmas island says: "Christmas morning I bathed in the sea. Christmas afternoon, dressed in white flannel, I played tennis. It is always summer there. A pure, cool breeze always blows from the southeast. In January the fresh fruits and flowers and vegetables are as plentiful as during July or August in the United States. Christmas Island is a little paradise nine miles wide and about ten miles long."

hung with articles which, according to the missionaries, are the gifts of Santa Claus to good Indians. The Indians kneel and pray in front of an altar during the performance.

When Santa Claus visits the Indian papoose on the plains he does not find stockings in which to deposit his presents. As a rule, the little Indian in the tepee does not wear stockings, for

Hidden Gifts of the....
Christmastide.

By ALOYSIUS COLL.

[Copyright, 1907, by Aloysius Coll.]
THINK you, my little baby boy,
That the gifts are all for you—
The picture books and the painted blocks

And the soldier men in blue?
But what of the joy in mother's heart
When she saw you dance for glee,
When you woke to see the candles burn
On the boughs of the Christmas tree?

YOU clapped your hands and you
laughed aloud
When you found the little plow
With the oxen team that jogged on wheels
In the shade of the greenwood bough,
But what of the silent tenderness
That stirred in mother's breast
When you drove the oxen to the barn
In the twilight hour to rest?

YOUR eyes in wonder opened wide
When you saw that the little train
Would rattle down the carpet track
And then run back again
But what of the golden train of thought
That follows your baby feet
To scatter the flowers of mother love
Where the way is bright and sweet?

YOU CLAPPED YOUR HANDS AND YOU
LAUGHED ALOUD.

YOU set the sails on your tiny ship,
And you sent it out to sea
On a silver lake with shores of moss
When the wind was fair and free,
But what of my silver lake of dreams
Where never a ship may start,
But bears you at the prow to sound
The fathoms of my heart?

AH, beat your taps to the soldier toys,
Unyoke the oxen team,
And draw the fires in your painted
train.
Come to my arms and dream,
For thine are the gifts of a tender day
And a night of childish joy;
Mine is the everlasting gift
Of a mother's heart—my boy!

Her Best Friend's Gift.
Wickers — Isn't it unfortunate that dark Miss Manley has just the faintest suspicion of a mustache?
Her Best Friend—It is, indeed. I sympathized with her last Christmas.
Wickers—Sympathized?
Her Best Friend—Yes. Without the poor dear knowing it I sent her a mustache cup.

A Disappointing Feature.
"Was there any disappointing feature about your appearance as Santa Claus?"
"Well, rather! The nose of my false face melted off!"

"Merry Christmas!"

Stops Hair Falling

Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula, will certainly stop falling of the hair. Indeed, we believe it will always do this unless there is some disturbance of the general health. Then, a constitutional medicine may be necessary. Consult your physician about this.

Does not change the color of the hair.

The reason why Ayer's Hair Vigor stops falling hair is because it first destroys the germs which cause this trouble. After this is done, nature soon brings about a full recovery, restoring the hair and scalp to a perfectly healthy condition.

WEAK, WEARY WOMEN

Learn the Cause of Daily Woes and End Them.
When the back aches and throbs. When housework is torture. When night brings no rest nor sleep. When urinary disorders set in. Women's lot is a weary one. There is a way to escape these woes. Doan's Kidney Pills cure such ills. Have cured women here in Bedford. This is one Bedford woman's testimony.
Mrs. Philip Little, living on East St., Bedford, Pa., says: "It is hard to describe the suffering I have endured from kidney complaint. My back ached severely and at times I was unable to do my housework. I had severe chills and was often very dizzy. Finally I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Irvine's Drug Store, took them as directed and they helped me from the first. I continued using them and the pains and aches disappeared, the bloating vanished and I was much better in every way. Doan's Kidney Pills quickly rid me of every trace of kidney trouble and I am glad to recommend them to others."
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. Dec. 13-2t.

Christmas Cakes
Yule Cake—Cream one pound of butter, add gradually one pound of sugar; then add nine yolks of eggs well beaten, quarter of a pound of chopped citron peel, one pound of cleaned currants, two ounces of blanched shredded almonds, one and a quarter pounds of flour, and the stiffly beaten whites of eggs.
Mix carefully and put into a tin lined with well-greased paper. Bake from two to two and a-half hours.

The oven must be well-heated or the currants will sink to the bottom.
Christmas Cake—Mix together in a basin half a pound of flour with half a pound of self-raising flour. Rub six ounces of butter finely into them, add two teaspoonfuls of ginger, one teaspoonful of grated nutmeg, two teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, four ounces of chopped orange peel, one pound of brown sugar, half a pound of currants, half a pound of Sultana raisins, one pound of stoned raisins, four well-beaten eggs and one cup of milk.
Mix thoroughly and put into a buttered tin lined with paper, and bake until perfectly firm in the center and shrinking away from the sides of the tin.—Philadelphia Press.

Mills-Cornell

Thursday evening, December 12, at 5 o'clock a very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride near Clearville when Miss Martha E., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel N. Cornell, was united in the bonds of holy wedlock to Joseph Mills of near Clearville by Rev. J. Milton Snyder of the Lutheran church of Clearville. The bride was handsomely attired in a gown of castor crepe de chine and lace; the groom wore the conventional black. After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding supper was served. A large number of the immediate relatives and friends of the bride and groom were present to enter into the joys of the occasion. The bridal gifts were both handsome and useful.

On the following day the lately wedded couple repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Mills near Clearville, parents of the groom, where a bountiful wedding dinner was served and again many happy congratulations were tendered by a number of relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Mills are among the best known and most highly respected young people of the community and they enter upon life's journey with the best wishes for happiness and success from a host of friends.

F. W. Jordan Asks Catarrh Sufferers to Try Hyomei on His Guarantee.
F. W. Jordan invites all who suffer from any form of catarrhal troubles to get a Hyomei outfit from him with his absolute guarantee that if it does not give perfect satisfaction, the money will be refunded upon request. There is no other treatment for catarrh that in any way resembles Hyomei, none that gives such quick curative results and lasting satisfaction, no medicine that can take its place, none that can be sold on a guarantee like this, to refund the money unless it cures.
Catarrh is a germ disease and can be cured only by breathing Hyomei, so that the most remote air cells in the nose, throat and lungs are reached by its antiseptic healing powers. In this way all catarrhal germs are killed, the irritated mucous membrane is healed and catarrh is driven from the system.
This wonderful medicated air treatment does not drug and derange the stomach, but is breathed through a little pocket inhaler that goes with every dollar outfit.
The unusual way in which F. W. Jordan sells Hyomei attests his confidence in the remedy.
Jack and Jill were both quite ill. Now each is well and wiser. For blues and headaches have to go. When they take an Early Riser. DeWitt's Little Early Riser Pills are sold by Ed. D. Heckerman.

THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS ON THE RAILS.

At no other period of the year does home-hunger grip the human heart with such an eager yearning as at Christmas time. The lasting memories of the old homestead, the tender welcome of the older and the merry greetings of the younger dear ones, the happy reunion about the festal board, the pungent odor of the cedar, the witchery of the holly, the lurking sentiment of the mistletoe, all combine to make a lure well nigh irresistible.

It is the season of reunions and foregatherings, of meeting and parting.

The zest of travel is rife, for apart from the home-goings and social exchanges, it is a holiday time for many and there are pleasant excursions to be made, where sightseeing has an added relish from the prevalent gaiety and good cheer.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is always popular at holiday times. Its system is so far-reaching, and at the same time so closely interwoven with the needs of the traveler; its trains are so numerous and so well equipped for the accommodation of every class of travel, and its ticketing arrangements so satisfying that it might be termed the Santa Clause route.

Its Limited trains carrying the highest grade of travelers, completely appointed in every detail, offer exceptional advantages to the children going home from school for the Christmas vacation. The boys naturally gravitate to such trains; the girls will find every comfort and safeguard, as well as a maid at their command.

No matter whether bound it is wise to consult a Pennsylvania Railroad Ticket Agent as to trains and rates. He can start you right; the rest will be easy.

Rings From Hot Dishes
The rings caused by setting a hot dish on varnished surfaces can be taken off by rubbing them with kerosene oil, then with alcohol very briskly. Kerosene is a magic cleaner. Used on the top of the kitchen sink and in the sink itself it works wonders. The copper and iron are washed off after the oil has been used, and then the metal is as pleasant to the touch as when it was new. Put some kerosene into the water in which you wash your windows and you will be surprised at their brilliancy.

The announcement Wednesday morning of the death of John R. Jordan, Burgess of Bedford, caused a cloud of gloom to spread over the town, the like of which has not been witnessed in recent years. He held the merited respect and esteem of all who knew him. His public spirit revealed itself in deeds that have told for the welfare of the town and county. His pure life and clean habits have been felt by his friends and they are the better for having known him. His devotion to his friends and especially to his mother and members of his family was most beautiful. The loosing of the silver cord of life has removed from the sphere of action a true son, brother, friend, but his influence and his example still abide. The scroll of his life is rolled together but the record of his self-sacrifice, his devotion, his kindly deeds, his noble acts, will endure. To know him was to admire and honor and love him, and many are those who, touched by his life and his influence can now more fully appreciate his worth.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. ## TEACHERS' INSTITUTE er showed by specimens the features of the silk industry. Here he showed us the development of the silk industry in this country and especially pointed out how our own state has developed in silk manufacturing. The different sections of China have different products. He showed how tea is procured and cured, rice culture in the south and millet in the north. In rice culture China is very primitive. We get the idea that all Chinamen eat rice from the fact that all Chinamen who come to America eat rice. Silk, rice and tea are the three staples of China. In addition to these she has a few other products, cinnamon, rattan, straw braids, matting and camel's wool. America is, in fact, becoming the god-father of China.

Dr. Corson on "Some Natural characteristics of the True Teacher." As a warning, the speaker does not want to be understood that teachers should not be trained. Teachers generally do not have these characteristics fully developed. Scholarship and character are important. It is granted that all believe in scholarship and in character. It is the purpose to make the most of small capital. The man of two talents does the most business.

First characteristic—Faith in humanity. Be an optimist; pessimism and egotism go together. The pessimist believes the sun sets when he closes his peepers. Beware of too much condemning! We never put forth an honest effort but that it is appreciated; the world is full of appreciation, even though it takes a fire or an earthquake to awaken it. Get it down in your souls that this is a good world; the teacher is here to take the bad out of it. Teachers cannot teach school and think the world is going bad.

Second characteristic—Have faith in childhood. It is a libel that children are common liars, the man who said that possibly knew no one outside of his own family.

Tuesday Afternoon

Music: "Speak Kindly."

Mr. Macfarlane—"A Lesson in Geography, II." Before launching into his subject Mr. Macfarlane explained the method of getting a museum. Brazil is touched by all the states of South America except Chile. Unlike the other states of South America, she is Portuguese instead of Spanish. Brazilians do not approve of the phrase "The United States of America."

In discussing the geographical features he touched on the character of the climate and the size of the Amazon river and its basin. After discussing the plant and animal life the speaker described the various species of rubber trees. Then he showed how rubber is obtained from these trees and the method of preparing it for market. Brazil's share of the world's product of rubber is more than half that of the world. We import $70,000,000 worth of rubber which we manufacture into rubber goods and ship a large portion back to Brazil.

The next article taken up was the cacao bean, how they are harvested and shipped to manufacturing countries. Cacao is manufactured into cocoa in the United States. Coffee is the third important product of Brazil. In addition to these products numerous other products were mentioned. The cotton industry was started by confederates of our own country who went to Brazil to seek their fortunes. Rio Janeiro is the finest bay in the world. Here is the great coffee market of the world. The coffee plantations are large. Coffee thrives in a red soil and is generally picked by hand. In Rio it is possible to get any grade of coffee you want. Sometimes they paint the coffee before it is shipped. The mineral industries, gold, diamonds and manganese are in great abundance in Brazil.

Dr. Corson again took up his subject of the "Natural Characteristics in the Teacher." Children will respond quickly to the faith teachers have in them. We should aim to have faith in the children; it is not necessary to tell them eternally that we love them. Children can detect character quicker than old people. The speaker encouraged the teachers to love the children whom they teach that they may lead them to do what is good and right. Love for work goes with the wages; the man who works only for the dollars in any profession is to be despised; love of the work tides us over the hard places. We may be discouraged but if love is the ruling principle one will overcome the difficulties. The keynote of all success is love of the work.

Teachers should have control of their tempers. No teacher ever scolds without making a dunce of himself. Do not get angry and weaken your influence in your school. Strict discipline is valuable but the teacher who looks for trouble always finds it. "The tongue is the only instrument that grows sharper from constant use." Stand up in the presence of the most provoking circumstances and be a gentleman. No teacher should ever say in the school room what he would not say to his equals. Never use sarcasm. We succeed in the schoolroom as we tend toward the ideal held up by the Master.

A teacher must have faith in himself. The most disgusting characteristic is over-egotism or over-estimation. The egotism of a false humility is to be despised. We must feel the responsibility of our opportunity. The speaker despises the man who pretends that he is worthless in order to be flattered. It is the duty of the teacher to choose a middle ground between these extremes. As an example of a character who could bear responsibility he eulogized Grant, who never under-estimated himself as a fighter and never over-estimated himself in victory. We have problems to solve that are important.

Tuesday Evening

The Spirit of the Times was the subject of the lecture delivered by Elbert Hubbard, Chief of the Roycrofters, in which he threw to the audience many chunks pertaining to the philosophy of life which may well be split finer at leisure. He is the exponent of a new philosophy, the cardinal virtues of which are work, and temperance, and love, and fellow-feeling.

Wednesday Morning

Devotional exercises by Rev. J. A. Eyer. The report of the Committee on Course of Reading was ready by H. D. Mager. The following books were adopted: Roark's "Methods in Education," published by the American Book Company, and Hamilton's "The Recitation," published by J. B. Lippincott & Company, classics—Silas Marner and Hiawatha. It was also recommended that memory gems be taught in the schools.

Dr. Corson on "Some Advantages of the Country School Teacher." The following outline was handed in when he talked on this subject: the advantage of walking four miles to your school house, sweeping your own school room, building your own fire, boarding around, attending a teachers' institute, and listening to wise instruction. Dr. Corson considers the teacher who sees only the drudgery unit to teach. No one should hold up for ridicule neither the country nor the city teacher. The country teacher has the advantages of health and a more appreciative class of people than the teacher in the city. Teachers should not fail to express their appreciation of the kindness of the community. The teacher will have a better class of pupils in the country than in the city because the surroundings in the country are more conducive to his development. A country boy must learn, early in life, to assume responsibility and to do things. The number of chores enlarges the boy's horizon of usefulness. The danger of idleness in the city is a question that needs to be solved. The country boy has succeeded because conditions compel him to assume and to feel responsibility in spite of his disadvantages. A boy of fourteen could be in bed early. We must learn that boys and girls of our high schools are only children. The country teacher has more time for his own development. The speaker thus advised teachers to try to have a room to himself where he boards. Opportunities for teaching many of the branches are better in the country than in the city. Have more excursions to the surroundings of your neighborhood.

Superintendent Cotton on "The Consolidated School" referred to a teacher who had a wide experience and brought everything to the school that is necessary for the broader education of the child. America boasts of the equal opportunities she offers to all. This may be true in theory but in fact it is not true. One great trouble with the school organization is that there are so many small schools because so many children have moved to the towns; these small schools are placed in the hands of poor teachers, hence they become the training place for those who afterwards become teachers in the larger schools. In Indiana the speaker showed that schools in which there are less than twelve pupils must be closed and means must be secured to send the pupils to an adjoining district if the physical features permit. Hacks are procured and are driven by responsible persons. By the system of consolidation it becomes possible to do more and better work; it also offers opportunity to make education more liberal in the arts and sciences. In reference to the school of the future the speaker thinks that the school will be established on a farm of not less than ten acres of land, children will be taught there to appreciate the farms, and city schools will be transferred to the country. That the movement is in this direction the speaker cited statistics and showed that the work is carried along the same line in many other states. When this is realized America will offer equal opportunities to all.

"Literature" was discussed by Prof. F. F. Holsopple of Juniata College. As opposed to the spirit of materialism the speaker showed that new sensations of pleasure may come to us through poetry. Then the speaker illustrated how literature may be taught so that it may be appreciated. "In School Days." Here, in a few words, he made his listeners familiar with the surroundings in which the poem was written. In the reading of a poem do not stop to study grammar or what other subjects may be brought in to spoil the meaning. The poem must be read in the spirit in which it was written. When you are getting the image of a poem in your mind do not let anything come between you and your enjoyment of it.

THINGS EDUCATIONAL

In Broad Top Township—Schools and Institutes.

During the month of November we lost from our ranks one director, Robert H. Kay, and one teacher, M. N. Stally. Both were valuable men. Mr. Kay moved to Saxton and Mr. Stally resigned to accept a position in the Everett schools.

O. B. Paulson has been appointed to fill the vacancy on the board and George F. Rinard to fill the vacancy in the teaching force.

The teachers' monthly reports show that up to the end of the second month there have enrolled 886 pupils in all of the schools, with an average attendance of 705. The percent of attendance for the month is 88, and for the term is 89. The schools are credited with having received 94 visits during the month. Three hundred six attended every day during the month while two hundred twenty-four were present every day during the term.

The highest enrollment for the month is 72, in the Defiance primary school, and for the term is 86, in the North Point primary.

The highest average attendance for the month is 66 and for the term 67, in Defiance primary, while the smallest average for the month is 6 and for the term is 5, in the Rinard school. In the Riddlesburg primary school, with a total enrollment of 54, there were 39 present every day during the month and 35 during the term. Defiance primary had 37 present every day of the month and Langdonale primary had 33.

During the month of November there were two sessions of local institute, one at Kearney on the 9th and one at Riddlesburg on the 30th. The meeting held at Kearney has been reported by our corresponding secretary; but for the session held at Riddlesburg, we want to say that it was decidedly the best institute held thus far this term. In addition to our own teachers we had with us a number of visiting teachers, among whom were H. D. Metzger and Miss Gaunt, of Saxton, E. S. Rice of Liberty high school, Miss Oyler of Mann's Choice, Miss Moore of Altoona and Miss Trout of Petersburg.

We also had with us a good representation of pupils and school friends, all ready to do their part to make the meeting a success.

Misses Worthing, Sprow, Longquest and Zimmerman delighted the audience with several well-rendered vocal quartets. These young ladies are members of the Riddlesburg advanced school and were instructed and drilled by Miss Bess Ritchey.

We enjoyed the good music and the words of encouragement from our visiting friends and others, but most of all we enjoyed Mr. Lauder's address in which he gave us an account of his recent trip to Paris, London and Edinburgh. Mr. Lauder always interests his audience when he talks "school" but at this meeting he seemed unusually interesting. His remarks were confined almost exclusively to the school systems of Europe, showing us wherein their schools are better than ours and wherein they are poorer. We learned from his remarks that the schools of Europe are maintained for the children and that very many of our teachers would stand a very poor show in getting a school in London. Visiting schools is forbidden.

A Real Wonderland

South Dakota, with its rich silver mines, bonanza farms, wide ranges and strange natural formations, is a veritable wonderland. At Mound City in the home of Mrs. E. D. Clapp, a wonderful case of healing has lately occurred. Her son seemed near death with lung and throat trouble. "Exhausting coughing spells occurred every five minutes," writes Mrs. Clapp, "when I began giving Dr. King's New Discovery, the great medicine that saved his life and completely cured him." Guaranteed for coughs and colds, throat and lung troubles, by all druggists. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

den and in Paris the schools have their holiday on Thursday instead of Saturday.

After Mr. Lauder's address the institute adjourned to meet at Hopewell January 11, 1908.

The second number of the lecture and entertainment course was given at Hopewell on the night of November 30 by Shungopavi & Co. The opera house was comfortably filled, and the performance was excellent but I am sorry to say that part of the audience had not been educated to that standard where they would appreciate a clean, up-to-date entertainment. Owing to the shameful conduct of several rowdies, part of the program could not be executed.

The students of the Broad Top high school have organized a literary society which meets every two weeks. The writer had the pleasure of attending their first meeting, held last Friday afternoon. We were much pleased with their work. At their next meeting they will debate the question, Resolved, That a girl needs as good an education as a boy.

The directors voted at their last meeting to give the children a two weeks' vacation, also that Washington's birthday shall be observed as a school holiday.

One Who Was Along.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Wm. D. Hooper

Whenever you feel that your stomach has gone a little wrong, or when you feel that it is not in good order as evidenced by mean headaches, nervousness, bad breath, and belching, take something at times, and especially after your meals until relief is afforded. There is nothing better offered the public today for stomach troubles, dyspepsia, indigestion, etc., than KODOL. This is a scientific preparation of natural digestants combined with vegetable acids and it contains the same juices found in every healthy stomach. KODOL is guaranteed to give relief. It is pleasant to take; it will make you feel fine by digesting what you eat. Sold by Ed. D. Heckerman.

Here's Good Advice

O. S. Woolver, one of the best known merchants of Le Raysville, N. Y., says: "If you are ever troubled with piles, apply Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It cured me of them for good 20 years ago." Guaranteed for sores, wounds, burns or abrasions, 25c at all drug stores.

DANGER IN ASKING ADVICE

When you have a cough or cold do not ask some one what is good for it, for there is danger in taking some unknown preparation. Foley's Honey and Tar cures coughs, colds, and prevents pneumonia. The genuine is in a yellow package. Refuse substitutes. Ed. D. Heckerman.

Dell-Baker

Anthony O. Dell and Jennie M. Baker, both of Mt. Union, were united in the bonds of matrimony at Trinity Lutheran parsonage, Bedford, by Rev. M. L. Culler on Thursday, December 12.

There is something about Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup that makes it different from others, as it causes a free yet gentle action of the bowels through which the cold is forced out of the system. At the same time it heals irritation and allays inflammation of the throat and lungs. It is pleasant to take. Children like it. Contains no opiates nor narcotics. Sold by Ed. D. Heckerman.

Smull's Handbook Out

The copies of Smull's legislative handbook are now being sent out by the Senate librarian, Harrisburg. The book is bound similarly to last year's volume, but has the much appreciated feature of a marginal index for the entire volume. It contains 863 pages, a smaller number than the 1906 publication.

For a mild, easy action of the bowels, a single dose of Doan's Regulants is enough. Treatment cures habitual constipation. 25 cents a box. Ask your druggist for them.

How He Grew Young.

One satisfied man returned from a two weeks' holiday. He spent it on a farm owned by an old aunt, and the royal way in which she fed him, to use his own description, formed the chief delight of his holiday.

"You see," he remarked confidentially, "my wife is a graduate of a diet and cooking school of the most up to date sort. She sees that we never have a meal which isn't perfectly balanced as to food values. The things we eat are chosen with reference to that and not with regard to whether we like them especially. Well, I can tell you, old Aunt Laura, with her table just groaning with forbidden, indigestible articles, was a mighty welcome change to me. She never heard of carbohydrates or phosphates or cellulose, and she wouldn't know a proteid if she met one in a bean porridge, where, by the way, I believe they largely congregate. But I tell you her fried chicken and fresh pork and biscuits were the finest things I've had for years. My wife actually turned pale when she saw me eat, and I know she was worried, because we were six miles from a doctor. I was never ill for a minute, though, and those two weeks of old fashioned, unscientific cooking have made me feel like a new man—or, rather, like a boy again."—London M. A. P.

Her Conversion.

When preparing his parishioners for the solemn ordinance of confirmation an old clergyman found among them one old woman so excessively ignorant and stupid that for some weeks prior to the time he was obliged to have her come to his house every day in order to instruct and catechise her. At length he began to hope that his time, patience and zeal had not been entirely bestowed in vain, a few bright flashes of understanding having burst from the old dame's clouded intellect. "Now, my good friend," said the worthy pastor just previous to the commencement of the ceremony, "as this is the last moment in which I shall have an opportunity of conversing with you, let me ask, do you thoroughly understand and believe all the articles of your Christian faith?"

"Aye, yes, sir, thank'ee," replied his venerable pupil, with a stammer and dropping one of her best courtesies, "I does indeed now, and, thank God, I heartily renounces them all."

The Clock Struck 1.

It was just two minutes to 1 when John Ludlum entered the house and, unwrapping a paper parcel, said to his wife that he had brought her a present of a clock. It was her birthday, and she had expected a brooch or a ring at least, and so she said tartly, "You liked the look of that clock."

His face flushed. "A nice way to speak about a present!" said he hotly. "Well, it's the truth. I wouldn't have given a couple of shillings for it," said she in an exasperating tone.

John Ludlum was a quick tempered man. The veins in his temples swelled, and—

Just then the clock struck 1. What did it signify—that the clock was running all right?

It did not. The ambulance surgeon said a few minutes later that if the clock had struck one inch nearer her temple John Ludlum would have been a widower.—Pearson's Weekly.

Many Color Lines in Cuba.

There are social distinctions in Cuba based upon color. There is not one but several color lines, though these are not eternal, hard, fast and unchangeable, as in the United States. In Cuba social life is run largely by social clubs. There are in almost every town and village negro clubs, two or three grades of mulatto clubs and white clubs. In one and at its functions may appear the husband, excluding the wife; in another, the wife, but not the husband; in a third, their children, but neither the father nor mother. To the world this will appear incredible, almost incomprehensible. Here it is convention, fixed, settled, accepted and operative. These distinctions, however, run but for a lifetime.—Army and Navy Life.

Too Much For Him.

"Andrew," said a devoted wife to her husband, "I want a hundred."

"A hundred what?" exclaimed the husband.

"Dollars," she replied calmly.

"What for?"

"Oh, a whole lot of things."

"Um-um," he hesitated. "I guess I shall have to check your extravagance, my dear."

"Do," she smiled, "and make it payable to my order, please."

He collapsed then and there.—Brooklyn Citizen.

The Persian Language.

Persian is said to be not a very difficult language. The modern Persian is very much like the English in its sensible rejection of the inflections that burden so many of the world's tongues. There is no difference of termination to mark the gender either in nouns or adjectives, and all inanimate things are neuter. In other ways the Persian language conforms to the English.

Illegal.

Ethel—That sixteen-year-old boy asked me to marry him. Edith—And you threw him over? Ethel—Yes; told him it was against the law to catch lobs- ters so young.—Judge's Library.

Not Depressed.

"He says his whole life is a fizzle." "Is he so pessimistic?" "Not a bit of it. He's merely the clerk that attends to the soda water drinks."—Baltimore American.

It is for want of application rather than means that men fail of success.—La Rochefoucauld.

He Sure Was a Man!

When William Allen rose up in the early seventies and surprised the country by being elected governor of Ohio on the Democratic ticket one of the obstacles he triumphed over was the charge of being an old man. He addressed a great meeting at Mozart hall in Cincinnati the night following the day in which this ill advised charge had been brought against him, by a responsible Republican leader. Strong, vigorous and well preserved as he was and retaining unbroken that quality of voice which had designated him as "Foghorn Allen" when he was in the senate, he was still politician enough to use it for all it was worth to him. After stating the charge in all its heinousness he straightened himself to his full height of more than six feet and, beginning in a loud voice, asked, "Am I a man?" The next question was in a voice pitched a scale higher and asked, "Do I look like a man?" But the third, in which he put out all of his tremendous vocal power, thundered to shake the roof in roaring, "Do I talk like a man?" The audience was thrilled. Such high physical power in a man of that age appealed to it irresistibly.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Fascination of Burglary.

"My champion burglar," said Mr. Holmes, the police court missionary, "is a bookbinder by trade, who has been in jail on and off for half a century."

Mr. Holmes' ruminations with this chronic breaker of the law constitute an instructive scene from his work. He behaved to the erring bookbinder quite as a brother; the man had the entire of the house and enjoyed the friendship of the family. How was he in the habit of repaying this hospitality? By going out to burgle. Twice Mr. Holmes set him up, but in vain. The only charm that life has for this extraordinary being is the opportunity it vouchsafes for committing burglary.

"Why on earth don't you leave off burglary?" Mr. Holmes asked him once. "Mr. Holmes," was his reply, "there's no fascination in the world to equal it. The silence of the night, the element of danger, the need of keeping every sense on the alert—it's grand."—Cassell's Journal.

Passed Examination Successfully

James Donahoe, New Britain, Conn., writes: "I tried several kidney remedies, and was treated by our best physicians for diabetes, but did not improve until I took Foley's Kidney Cure. After the second bottle I showed improvement, and five bottles cured me completely. I have since passed a rigid examination for life insurance." Foley's Kidney Cure cures backache and all forms of kidney and bladder trouble. Ed. D. Heckerman.

He Heard of It.

Admiral Walker was a fine old sailor, and he was recognized as thorough. No personal friendship softened his manners to a delinquent. One day when he was sailing out from Hampton Roads with the international fleet that helped us to celebrate the centennial of Washington's first inauguration his orders about weighing anchor were disobeyed by his dearest friend in the service, who was in command of one of the ships, and as the old Chicago, the flagship, passed the trembling culprit the waves of the world heard "his whiskers" thundering out from the bridge obstructions and expressing wonder at his own moderation in not putting his old comrade under arrest. At another time when the white squadron was sailing out of a Mediterranean bay another old friend worked his ship so awkwardly that the admiral—then nearly a "trade dollar admiral"—suspended him by signal in the face of the whole fleet. The punished captain, coming aboard to protest against his public reprimand, puffed out indignantly, "Why, sir, I never heard of such a thing." "Well," said John, pulling at his big side whiskers, "you've heard of it now."—Harper's.

Thousands of men and women in all walks of life are suffering from kidney and bladder troubles. Don't neglect your kidneys. Delays are dangerous. DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills afford quick relief for all forms of kidney and bladder trouble. A week's treatment 25c. Sold by Ed. D. Heckerman.

A Dangerous Deadlock

that sometimes terminates fatally, is the stoppage of liver and bowel functions. To quickly end this condition without disagreeable sensations, Dr. King's New Life Pills should always be your remedy. Guaranteed absolutely satisfactory in every case or money back, at all drug stores. 25c.

AS OTHERS THINK

Everyone in Bedford Has a Right to His Own Opinion.

While everyone has a right to his own opinion, yet it is wise to always consider what others think and profit by their experience.

Nothing makes life so miserable, or interferes so widely with the usefulness of the average American, as indigestion, and it is well for us to give fair consideration to what others think about this remarkable affliction.

F. W. Jordan is positive that in Mi-o-na stomach tablets he has an absolute cure for indigestion and the many disagreeable symptoms that follow this disease, such as distress after eating, coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness, flatulence, nervousness and debility.

Their action in selling Mi-o-na on a guarantee to refund the money unless it cures, shows plainly their belief in the value of this remedy. He takes all the risk, and there will be no charge whatever for Mi-o-na unless you are satisfied that it has relieved you of indigestion. Dec. 20-21

Babes as Bait.
"Wot do ye think," said the sailor, "of usin' live babies for bait? We done it in Ceylon."

"Babies for bait? Fishing for shark?"
"No. Crocodile. Baby bait is the only thing for crocodile, and everybody uses it. Ye rent a baby down there for half a dollar a day. Of course," the sailor went on, "the thing ain't as cruel as it sounds. No harm ever comes to the babies, or else, o' course, their mothers wouldn't rent 'em. The kid is simply sot on the soft mud bank of a crocodile stream and the hunter lays hid near him, a sure perfection. The crocodile is lazy. He basks in the sun in midstream. Nothin' will draw him in to shore where ye can pot him. But set a little fat naked baby on the bank and the crocodile soon rouses up. In he comes, a goodly look in his dull eyes, and then ye open fire. I have got as many as four crocodiles with one baby in a morning's fishin'. Some Cingalese women worlives near good crocodile streams make as much as $2 a week reg'lar out o' rentin' their babies for crocodile bait."
—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Has a Job Waiting.
"I hear you're getting to be a real sport," a veteran in that line remarked to a youthful acquaintance of the conservative sort recently married.
The young man repudiated any such intention.

"Just placed a little bet among the boys in the office, you know," he added. "Put in $1.50 and won $40 in a trifling pool."

"Well, that's a good beginning, anyhow," said the veteran. "You'll grow up after awhile. What did you do with the $40—put it on the races or open wine?"

"Bought a ton of coal and a set of false teeth for my wife," was the reply.

When the veteran revived his young friend had disappeared.

"Gee," he soliloquized, "that's a new one in sport! If I win tomorrow guess I'll buy my mother-in-law a new cork leg and some darnin' cotton."—New York Globe.

Given Her Choice.
Little Harry's experience with death was limited to the decease of a pet canary which had been sent to a taxidermist and now adorned the parlor mantel.

His grandmother, of whom he was very fond, was taken suddenly ill. For some time after he learned of her condition he sat in a brown study. Then, as if coming to a sudden resolution, he tiptoed into the sickroom and, cautiously approaching the bed, fixed his serious big brown eyes upon his dear relative and said, with a little quiver in his voice:

"Say, grandma, if you die, which would you rather be—buried or stuffed? 'Cause if you're buried we can't see you no more, but if you're stuffed we can set you in the parlor."

Grandma immediately began to mend.—London Scraps.

Matter of Fact.
A visitor from London found in a cafe at Rotterdam a Dutchman who had been about a bit and who spoke English perfectly well.

This Dutchman was smoking a china pipe of remarkable size and beauty, and the Londoner, an admirer and collector of such bric-a-brac, took the liberty to comment upon it.

"You could not stumble upon a pipe like that every day," said the Englishman.

The Dutchman took three or four whiffs at the pipe and then slowly removed it from his mouth.

"Certainly not without breaking it," he said, gravely.—London Chronicle.

Soft and Light.
A lady famed for her skill in cooking was entertaining a number of her friends at tea. Everything on the table was much admired, but the excellence of the sponge cake was especially the subject of remark.

"Oh," exclaimed one of the guests, "it is so beautifully soft and light! Do tell me where you got the recipe!"

"I am very glad," replied the hostess, "that you find it so soft and light. I made it out of my own head."—Illustrated Bits.

How It Affected Him.
Mrs. Myles—When are you coming to call on us?

Mrs. Styles—Oh, I really don't know! "But you said you'd come soon and bring your husband?"

"I know I did, and I asked him last night to come over, and he said he'd like to dream over it, and, do you know, dear, he had an awful nightmare last night!"—Yonkers Statesman.

"These big hotels are not so complete."

"What's lacking?"
"The express elevator gets you to the fifty-second floor all right, but there a half mile corridor confronts you and no cabs."—Montreal Star.

Had Heard It Before.
"She looks very young to have a grown daughter."

"Yes; she was just telling me"—
"I know. That she was married when she was just barely fifteen years old."—Pittsburg Post.

Didn't Affect Him.

A Nation of Cripples Rheumatism Beyond Control

The Only Hope to Rheumatic Sufferers Is Uric-O Treatment.

If rheumatism continues to spread as it has in the past few years, it would seem as though we would before long become a nation of cripples. The terrible destructiveness of this disease is apparent on every side of us. Almost nine out of ten of the cripples one meets had their affliction brought on by Rheumatism. Ho many thousands more there are that are hopelessly bed-ridden and who we never see. Rheumatism, from its very nature of the disease, can never cure itself and if neglected is bound to grow worse rather than better. It is you ever have any twinges of Rheumatism go to your druggist and get a bottle of Uric-O, the wonderful Rheumatic Specific. It will cure you and it is the only treatment in the world that will cure you permanently and thoroughly. Uric-O cures by its direct action on the muscles, blood and kidneys. It seeks out the poisonous Uric and Rheumatic Acid and drives it from the system and it is only a treatment of such a nature that will ever cure Rheumatism. Liniments and plasters only serve to drive it from one spot to another. They never cure Rheumatism, because it is primarily a blood disease and until the blood is cleared from the poison, a cure cannot take place. There never was a case of Rheumatism that Uric-O could not cure and you should not put off taking it. You can test Uric-O free of charge if you wish. Just cut out this advertisement and send it to the Smith Drug Co., 481 Smith Bldg., Syracuse, N. Y., together with your name and the name of your druggist, and state that you have never used Uric-O and would like to try it. They will give you free, through your druggist, a 75-cent bottle, which you can test and try to your own satisfaction. Uric-O is sold and personally recommended in Bedford by F. W. Jordan.

Dec. 20-21.

Dodging His Friends.
The following advertisement recently appeared in one of the English colonial newspapers:

"James Savell begs to notify that he has started business on his own account as an up to date restaurateur and hopes that his many friends will jolly well stop away and give him a chance."

Cheap Jag.
"He was intoxicated with her beauty."
"That must have just suited him."
"Yes; it didn't cost any money."—Pittsburg Press.

Playing and Listening.
Muggins—You mustn't mind my daughter's mistakes. You know she plays entirely by ear. Buggins—Unfortunately that is also the way I listen.—Philadelphia Record.

His Inferiors.
"No," said Kadley, "I never associate with my inferiors. Do you?"
"Really, I can't say," replied Miss Cutting. "I don't think I ever met any of your inferiors!"

To forgive a fault in another is more sublime than to be faultless oneself.—George Sand

Badly Mixed Up

Abraham Brown, of Winterton, N. Y., had a very remarkable experience, he says: "Doctors got badly mixed up over me; one said heart disease; two called it kidney trouble; the fourth, blood poison, and the fifth stomach and liver trouble; but none of them helped me; so my wife advised trying Electric Bitters, which were restoring me to perfect health. One bottle did me more good than all the five doctors prescribed." Guaranteed for blood poison, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney complaints, by all druggists, 50c.

Educators to Meet
The third annual meeting of the high school department of Pennsylvania Educational Association will be held at Harrisburg on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, December 26, 27 and 28. The programs are being distributed.

"Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is the best remedy for that often fatal disease—croup. Has been used with success in our family for eight years."—Mrs. L. Whiteacre, Buffalo, N. Y.

Are you having trouble with your kidneys? There are lots of people today who wonder why they have pains across the back, why they are tired and lacking in energy and ambition. Your kidneys are wrong. They need relief without delay. Take DeWitt's Kidney & Bladder Pills; they are for weak back, inflammation of the bladder, backache and weak kidneys. Sold by Ed. D. Heckerman.

Millions of bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar have been sold without any person ever having experienced any other than beneficial results from its use for coughs, colds and lung troubles. This is because the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar in the yellow package contains no opiates or other harmful drugs. Guard your health by refusing any but the genuine. Ed. D. Heckerman.

Stops itching instantly. Cures piles, eczema, salt rheum, tetter, itch, hives, herpes, scabies.—Doan's Ointment. At any drug store.

Phrases or Handcuffs.
It is customary to remark that modern problems cannot easily be attacked because they are so complex. In many cases, I believe, it is really because they are so simple. Nobody would believe in such simplicity of scoundrelism even if it were pointed out. People would say that the truth was a charge of mere melodramatic villainy, forgetting that nearly all villains really are melodramatic. Thus, for instance, we say that some good measures are frustrated or some bad officials kept in power by the press and confusion of public business whereas very often the reason is simply healthy human bribery. We waste our fine intellects in finding exquisite phraseology to fit a man when in a well ordered society we ought to be finding handcuffs to fit him.—G. K. Chesterton in Illustrated London News

May Turn Black.
Professor McMillan Brown, ethnologist, holds that the future Australian people will in all probability be black. The Polynesians, he said in a lecture at Sydney, came originally not from America, as has been supposed, but from Asia. They were whites and changed color, just as the future Australian may do as the centuries go on at least in the tropical regions of the north. The violet rays of the sun will turn him black in course of time.

Sorry He Spoke.
"Really, Miss Prim, you ought to get married," remarked Wedderly. "You'll soon be in the spinster class if you don't hurry up and catch on."
"Oh, don't worry about me, Mr. Wedderly," replied Miss Prim. "If I were as easy to please as your wife I would have been married long ago."—London Telegraph.

Some Other Fellow's.
"With $100,000," said the man of expansive ideas, "I could make a fortune in Wall Street."
"Yes," replied the piker, "but whose fortune would you make?"—Washington Star.

An Apt Illustration.

PROCLAMATION

Whereas, In and by an Act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, entitled the "Uniform Primary Act," approved the 17th day of February, A. D. 1906, it is the duty of the County Commissioners of every county, beginning one week after the ninth Saturday preceding each primary, to "publish the number of delegates to be elected to the State and National conventions of each party, together with the names of all officers for which nominations are to be made or candidates for the party offices to be elected, within the county, at the ensuing primary, at least once each week for three successive weeks, in two newspapers of general circulation published within the county, wherever such course is possible. Such newspapers, so far as practicable, shall be representative of different political parties."

We, the County Commissioners of the County of Bedford, State of Pennsylvania, do therefore hereby make known and give this public notice to the electors of the County of Bedford that in the several election districts of Bedford county the following named officers are to be voted for at the Winter Primaries, to be held Saturday, January 25, 1908:

HINTS FOR CHRISTMAS GIFTS.---It may save you hours to read this page today---lots of time, walking and much fatigue. The forehanded man or woman makes a list of those to be remembered at Christmas---writes a suggestive gift by each name, appropriates the amount to be expended, and gets the shopping done in a jiffy---sees most, has best choice, and sits back to laugh at the eleventh-hour shopper.

A Letter to Santa Claus

It doesn't make any difference upon what kind of paper the children write to Santa Claus, because Santa Claus is not particular about the stationery, but when you write to Santa Claus, or anybody, you owe it to yourself to use as good paper as you can afford.

HIGHLAND LINEN

One of the famous Eaton-Hurlbut Writing Papers, is the kind of paper that does you justice when you write a letter to a friend. It is the kind to adorn your writing desk. Price, per box, 25c.

Hosiery

A more suitable gift you cannot find; a half-dozen pairs of stockings will make an acceptable present for any one. We want to tell you about a special number, in children's hosiery, today---we call it the Bicycle or Number 55. When you buy these goods you get your actual money's worth in stockings; no prizes, premiums or any other inducements offered. The Number 55 sells on merit. It's guaranteed because it's made so good that there's no room left for doubt about the quality. This Bicycle or Number 55 is a new stocking made by the most improved methods from the strongest hosiery yarn obtainable. It's knitted, shaped, dyed and finished in the best manner possible 12½c, 15c and 18c a pair, according to size.

Nothing pleases parents more than to see their children happy especially so on Christmas morning. We have some beautiful Coats for the little ones. Buy one and surprise them on Christmas morning.

"Mikado" means better but no higher

You Must See These Imported Japanese Doilies and Centerpieces

Are you wondering what Christmas Gift to give those married folks? Why not some Japanese Doilies or a Centerpiece?

Now ready, a new importation of them from the famous Mikado factories in Japan. They come in elaborate Drawn Work Patterns, some embroidered in rich designs. We're never tired of speaking about the fine Drawn Work that comes from Japan. Every woman appreciates the skilful work.

The Hand-Drawn Doilies, Centerpieces and Drawn Scarfs make appropriate and acceptable Christmas Gifts.

Mexican drawn-work, after washing, is likely to "crinkle" or break, but Japanese drawn-work lays flat and smooth, no matter how often you wash it.

Better make your selections at once.
